GOMPERS AND ROOSEVELT WRITING LETTERS POLITICAL WORK FOR COMING WEEK

What Robinson Says of Cathcart

(By CIRCUIT JUDGE ROBINSON)

"John W. Cathcart, if not the best, is one of the best prosecuting officials we have ever had in the Circuit Courts here. As to the truth or falsity of the charges against him, I, of course, know nothing. But of his record as a prosecutor, not a persecutor, I can speak. He has tried his cases adroitly and well; he has always been fair to the Court, never wishing to conceal things that might have a tendency in favor of an accused man; he has shown a desire to reach the bottom of every case, and at all times has been an able, honest, and unflinching officer in the performance of his duty, so far as he has come under my notice. This is not politics; it is the truth."

The majority of criminal cases have been tried during the past year in Judge Robinson's court.

Kuhlo's Tour of Maui Is Great Success for Republicans

(Special to the Bulletin)
WAILUKU, Maui, Oct. 25.—Republican Delegate Prince Jonah Kūhio Kalanianaʻōle, accompanied by Hon. A. L. C. Atkinson and Magistrate A. S. Mahaula, arrived on Maui from Hawaii by the steamer Claudine last Tuesday morning.

The Delegate opened his Maui campaign at Kaupō and Kipahulu last Tuesday forenoon, and at Hana the same evening. Big crowds attended the meetings of the Delegate and his traveling companions. Speeches were made at Nāhiku and Keanae Wednesday morning. On Wednesday evening a large and enthusiastic meeting was held at one of the sugar warehouses of the Kahului Railroad Company at Kahului. Trains conveyed people from Paia, Puunene, and Spreckelsville. About seven hundred Republicans greeted the Prince that evening. The platform was gaily decorated with the American and Hawaiian flags, while the Puunene orchestra furnished campaign music for the delectation of the hundreds of straight Republicans present.

Hon. Joel Nakaleka of Mōlōkai was the first speaker of the evening, and the words of this budding young orator from Hina's coral strand caught a responsive chord with his hearers and was loudly cheered. The interpreters of the evening were S. Keilno, A. S. Mahaula, and Hon. W. J. Coelho. Hon. A. L. C. Atkinson, E. B. Carley, and W. T. Robinson were the other speakers. Hon. H. P. Baldwin introduced the speakers.

The Prince spoke for over an hour in both English and Hawaiian and was most enthusiastically received. Kalanianaʻōle spoke at Pūhā, Kūla, Thursday morning, and at Tāvares' Makawao postoffice at noon.

Another big meeting was held at Wallace Church in the evening, but the biggest and most enthusiastic political meeting yet held on Maui was on Market street, Wailuku, last evening. A decorated platform was erected on Market street, being adorned with American and Hawaiian flags. Long before 7 o'clock Market street was lined with people from Raymond's butcher shop to the Kepōkai building. Ladies of all ranks turned out to hear the Prince in the open-air meeting, and Market street in all the political history of Wailuku was never graced with so many of the leading ladies of society before.

The Democrats had a meeting at Papohaku the early part of the evening and they hurried back to hear the Prince elucidate the different matters which he successfully handled in Congress. Perhaps it is safe to estimate that there were over twelve hundred people present, and their excellent behavior even surprised the Delegate. One or two Home Rulers who had freely imbibed at an adjoining saloon, attempted to ask foolish questions of the Prince and the Democrats and Home Rulers present were disgusted with the asinine questions propounded. Both Atkinson and the Delegate were well received, which was most encouraging to the Republican leaders. The

REED'S TESTIMONY WILL BE IMPORTANT

Wynne's Murder Trial Promises To Be Sensational

James Reed, former second officer on the oil steamer Rosecrans, was the first witness put on the stand in the trial of John Wynne for the murder of Engineer McKinnon, and his testimony promises to be of the sensational order. This morning the most of the time of the court was taken up by the settlement of various points of legal procedure for example and precedent in the continuation of the trial. Both Rawlins and Thompson are steeled for a legal struggle that will undoubtedly be dragged out over considerable length of time, and consequently are allowing no point in the early part of the trial to escape their notice or go without objection or contradiction.

In the first place, it was agreed this morning that the members of the jury would not have to be confined together during the course of the trial, but they will be allowed to separate and stay at their respective homes until the trial has closed. A motion to this effect was allowed by Judge Dole. Attorney Rawlins for the prosecution then read the indictment on the counts under which Wynne is now being tried, the reading of the first and second counts being objected to. Rawlins then stated to the jury that he would bring witnesses to show that the crime had

Iron Works Men Cheer Cathcart

John C. Lane was given rousing cheers today by the employees of the Honolulu Iron Works, where he gave an address at noon. His speech, though brief, was right to the point, and the voters voiced their approbation at its end.

Lane emphasized the fact that he was not a corporation man, and that he would, in the event of his election as the first Mayor of Honolulu, perform the duties of his office economically and impartially, and that he would see that everyone was given a square deal. He told the ironworkers that the Republican party did its best for the benefit of everybody, regardless of his station in life; that as a Republican he had done what was most beneficial to the citizens.

KUHIO EXPLAINS HIS STAND ON LAND LAW

Shows Hearers Fifteen Year Lease Is Equitable

The land laws of the Territory of Hawaii was the chief topic covered by Delegate Kuhio in his address to the voters in Kewalo Saturday night. The speaker outlined the conditions existing here and told what he hoped to accomplish. Said he:

"I have worked for the fifteen-year lease law because I believe that it will give the men of small means the best chance to get hold of small pieces of property and make something out of the soil. It would make it possible for people of meager wealth to get hold of small pieces of land and work them, where they would not have the capital necessary to buy property outright."

"In fifteen years time, a piece of property will produce a whole lot, and any one holding a fifteen-year lease on a fertile piece of land should be able to reap a considerable harvest. These are some of my reasons for supporting the fifteen-year lease proposition, and I consider that my stand is sound."

"Any claim that I am working against the welfare of the Hawaiians is ridiculous. I have always worked for them and shall most certainly continue to do so. Any talk along that score is too ridiculous to answer."

The claim made by L. L. McCandless, that he had not taken the Hawaiian people into consideration when he framed the Pearl Harbor appropriation bill and like measures, Kuhio quickly disapproved, saying that some people never could be satisfied.

Kuhio then made a brief review of the Republican platform and asked the support of the voters, not because he was on the Republican ticket, he said, but because he believed that the Republican ticket represented the principles which would prove the most beneficial to the Territory.

J. C. Lane, candidate for Mayor, made a brief talk, telling of his reasons for believing in the Republican platform, and asking the support of

Now Up Against It; May Buy Evidence

"I do not see that anything the Advertiser is saying now is worth replying to," said County Attorney Cathcart this morning. "It is merely reshaping a lot of stuff."

"This Adachi charge they held back to avoid giving me a chance to reply. The case which it connects with Adachi, was nolle prosequi, at the request of the police officers and after an investigation show that there was no criminal intent at all."

"As to anything that Thurston says, a man who puts the worst possible construction on a casual conversation, had, as I supposed, with a friend, is beneath contempt, and I am inclined to leave him to the opinion of the decent men of the community."

"The report has reached me that among the denizens of Iwilei it is rumored that the Advertiser is ready to pay money to any Japanese pimp or prostitute who will make an affidavit against me."

The charge referred to by Cathcart was made in the Advertiser yesterday, and alleges that one Oto Kumano, who was charged with stealing a bicycle, was advised by Adachi to employ Cathcart as his counsel, and that after he had paid Adachi $25 he was told that the case would not come to trial, whereafter the case was nolle prosequi. The Advertiser admits that it cannot prove that Cathcart received the money.
